PENNY HOUSE — Complete with an indoor fireplace, this house was built with more than 15,000 pennies (Canadian) by Bill Carnahan of Sunset, Utah. He used liquid solder, glue and flat slabs of masonite for the roof and floor. The "log" cabin weighs 100 pounds.

Wives Seek Red Assurance On Husbands

PARIS (AP) — The wives of four U.S. Air Force pilots missing in North Vietnam clung today to the slim hope of a North Vietnamese promise to let them know whether they are "wives or widows."

The women, from the Dallas, Tex., area, gained the promise from a two-hour meeting with members of the North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks Wednesday.

They heard their husbands described as "war pirates" and "war criminals" and saw pictures of wounded civilians and wrecked buildings, allegedly the results of U.S. bombing raids. They were asked to denounce U.S. participation in the war when they returned home.

"We did not wish to argue or to offend them, but to seek information," said the wives' spokesman, Bonnie Singleton.

And they gained a promise from Xuan Danh, a North Vietnamese official, that he would contact Hanoi and write each of them, after they return to Texas, of the fate of their husbands.

Mrs. Singleton and her companions, Joy Jeffrey, Sandy McElhanon and Paula Hartness, also were promised that letters they gave to the North Vietnamese would be sent to Hanoi for delivery—if their husbands are alive.

The North Vietnamese also said that anyone would be welcome to their delegation headquarters in Paris providing they came as individuals and were not sponsored by the U.S. government. Mrs. Singleton said there was no indication, however, that Hanoi would release a list of U.S. prisoners.

The women arrived Sunday to make the personal appeal. They had only two questions to ask, they said: "Are our husbands alive, and if so, in what condition are they?"

The husbands of Mrs. Singleton and Mrs. Jeffrey have been missing for four years but were seen to bail out of their aircraft and move when they landed. The other two men were reported missing over North Vietnam.

Beatles Plug Queen Elizabeth During Song

LONDON (AP) — The Beatles have come up with an affectionate singing tribute to Queen Elizabeth II, who gave them the Order of the British Empire in 1968.

In the quartet's latest long-playing record, out Sept. 26, Paul McCartney voices a song with the punch line "Her Majesty's a pretty nice girl, so some time I'm gonna make her mine. Oh yeah, some day I'm gonna make her mine."

A Beatles press agent said the Beatles "are all monarchists" and that "Paul sang that knowing the Queen would enjoy it." He said a copy of the record would be sent to Buckingham Palace.

President Speaks To U.N. Assembly On World Outlook

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Nixon, making his first appearance before a global forum, urgently appealed to all members of the United Nations today to "take an active hand" in promoting a Vietnam peace.

In an address for the U.N. General Assembly, and for live television-radio broadcast, Nixon held Hanoi wholly responsible for the long stalemate in Paris negotiations.

The President urged all 126 member countries of the United Nations to "use your best diplomatic efforts" to break down what he pictured as the intransigence of Hanoi.

Springing no surprises in his first speech to the world organization, Nixon again went on record as favoring sober and serious negotiations with the Soviet Union on the Middle East, arms race curbs and other topics.

And, he said, "Whenever the leaders of Communist China choose to abandon their self-imposed isolation, we are ready to talk with them in the same frank and serious spirit."

Looking toward broad international cooperation in areas ranging from population control and space exploration to a counterattack against aircraft hijackings, Nixon asserted:

"... Let us press toward an open world—a world of open doors, open hearts, open minds—a world open to the exchange of ideas and of people, and open to the reach of the human spirit—a world open in its search for truth, and unconcerned with the fate of old dogmas and isms—a world open at last to the light of justice, and reason, and to the achievement of that true peace which the people of every land carry in their hearts and celebrate in their hopes."

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Nixon, was making a quick roundtrip to New York from the capital, but staying long enough to meet privately during the afternoon with a number of visiting foreign ministers, and to entertain U.N. diplomats at an evening reception.

Judge Throws Book
At Armed Robber
ELYRIA, Ohio (AP) — "This court will not consider modified sentences in armed robbery cases," Common Pleas Judge Leroy F. Kelly said Wednesday in sentencing a man to 10 to 25 years imprisonment for a $147 holdup.

Jose Flores, 21, of Lorain was sentenced to the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield after he pleaded guilty to the holdup.

The official, who asked not to be identified, said the Nixon administration is more interested in the ability of these projects to support themselves and less interested in getting the hard-core poor on some sort of payroll.

"There will be screams and howls of protest from all over," he said. "Albina is just the first."

Albina is the Albina Corp. of Portland, Ore., founded, operated and manned almost entirely by blacks in the city's ghetto. Located in a former bowling alley, the metal, plastics and fiberglass manufacturing firm has processed a number of government and private contracts since its founding a year ago. But its president, Mayfield Webb, says pressure from Washington has forced it to drop some social goal and aim for a quick profit.

"We have felt the effect of the new administration in Washington," says Webb, a lawyer and NAACP official. "The program people are not being listened to. It's the financial people now," he says of what he calls new orders from OEO.

OEO is considering Albina's application for a new $400,000 grant. It already has made grants totaling $386,545. Webb

Claim Hawaii Site Of Army War Gas Tests

Governor Wants
Honest Answer
On Station's Use

HONOLULU (AP) — Gov. John Burns says he wants to know whether the U.S. Army did or didn't test nerve gas in 1966 and 1967 on the slopes of Mauna Loa.

The governor said he cabled Army Secretary Stanley R. Resor Wednesday asking for clarification of reports involving apparently conflicting answers from the Army itself.

"I'm not accusing the Army of duplicity," Burns said, "but I am greatly concerned over reports that nerve gas tests were conducted."

Burns said he would await Resor's answer before recommending possible action by the state Land Board, which could cancel the balance of the Army's five-year lease on a 1,144-acre test site on the side of Hawaii's second-tallest volcano.

The lease, expiring in January 1971, stipulated that the land would be used "as a site to conduct classified meteorological and related tests."

Rep. Patsy I. Mink, D-Hawaii, said Tuesday the Army had acknowledged in a letter to her that it had used the site for testing the nerve agent GB and the incapacitating agent BG a total of four times in 1966-67.

On July 31, in a written response to the Honolulu Star-Bulletin's question whether it

Rhodes Sets Tough Policy On Unrest

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — "No one is going to take over any building on a state-supported campus in Ohio," Gov. James A. Rhodes warned Wednesday while touring three Cleveland area schools.

"These buildings were built by the taxpayers, and I have a duty to see that they are not damaged or destroyed," he said. He said force, including the State Highway Patrol and Ohio National Guard, would be used even if campus administrators did not ask for it.

"But I don't believe they would not ask for it," Rhodes said. "The last thing the administrators want is violence or destruction of property."

Rhodes said the state had liaisons in the administration of each state-supported campus who would notify the state of any potentially violent or destructive situation.

"We are not against orderly dissent and protest, but we have to protect state property and the lives of the students," Rhodes said.

The governor was accompanied on his tour of Cleveland State University and its Cleveland Marshall College of Law, the Cuyahoga Community College and the Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine by John D. Millett, chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents.

Millett said that "public opinion in this state will not tolerate takeovers or any such thing."

U.S. Would Trade B52 Halt For Viet Red De-Escalation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is prepared to negotiate an end to B52 raids in South Vietnam in return for enemy steps to de-escalate the war, U.S. officials report.

The eight-engine, high-flying bombers are the most dreaded and least costly of American weapons being used in the war, officials say, and some believe the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong might be willing to pay a price to get the attacks stopped.

President Nixon suspended

B52 raids for 36 hours last week at the end of a cease-fire called by the enemy to memorialize the late President Ho Chi Minh of North Vietnam.

White House sources said this week a major reason for the suspension was to make clear to the new leadership in Hanoi that everything in the war is negotiable except the right of self-determination for the South Vietnamese people.

The primary cause of the suspension was military. Nixon felt that if the enemy intended to prolong the cease-fire indefinitely he wanted to encourage them rather than take the initiative with new bombing raids which could quickly wreck any such attempt at de-escalation.

But Nixon's hopes, however slender, were quickly blasted as enemy troops resumed operations when the cease-fire ended.

Last week officials here denied any signal had been directed toward the enemy for which the U.S. expected a response. Tuesday, however, in explaining President Nixon's latest troop withdrawal decision, White House sources said the B52 suspension definitely was a signal, one to which the new leadership in Hanoi might be slow in reacting.

President Nixon has indicated for months that if he could not negotiate a mutual withdrawal of troops and a peace settlement wanted to de-escalate the war as much as possible by action not requiring agreement with the enemy.

At present, only his troop withdrawal program seems to offer any immediate hope for progressively extricating the U.S. from the war, but the possibility of working out a de-escalation arrangement actively interests Washington policy makers. Such an arrangement could be negotiated or might be arrived at by parallel actions.

White House and State Department sources report the Paris peace talks are totally deadlocked. While there is some speculation the post-Ho Chi Minh regime in Hanoi might be more peacefully inclined, top policy makers here are deeply skeptical.

"We have to realize that the dead hand of their departed leader is likely to paralyze their policy for quite some time, one official said.

Debbie Quits TV Series; Mad At Ad

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Debbie Reynolds quit her first television series almost before it began, objecting to the presentation of a cigarette commercial during its premiere.

"I will not be a party to such commercials," she told the National Broadcasting Co. Wednesday.

"We're rather mystified," said NBC-TV Vice President Mort Werner. A network spokesman said "Miss Reynolds' own people" had known about the commercial since March.

The actress said she discovered it Tuesday night, the first commercial in the premiere of her "Debbie Reynolds Show," and, "I was shocked." At noon Wednesday she quit.

"I consider cigarette commercials directly opposed to health and well being," she said. "This gesture is a complete breach of my understanding and agreement with NBC."

But the 36-year-old actress said she'd finish a shooting schedule today, leaving the network 16 complete shows of 25 scheduled. The NBC spokesman said the 16 probably would be aired.

Reactions to the premiere were mixed.

Rumors Claim Soviets Plan To Stage Coup

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Gamal Abdel Nasser is reported out of action indefinitely due to illness, but it isn't clear who's running Egypt.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram reported today that the 51-year-old president came down with an "acute influenza infection" following the Arab summit meeting in Cairo two weeks ago and is now under the care of three doctors.

Al-Ahram said Nasser's illness became more serious as he "persisted in his work because of the importance of the summit and the military revolution in Libya." The newspaper said the doctors had ordered complete rest and cancellation of all official appointments for an indefinite period.

Nasser is also said to have a circulatory ailment.

Jordanian Prime Minister Bahjat Talhouni had reported Wednesday that he had been unable to meet with Nasser during an official visit to Cairo this week because the president was ill and "under constant medical care." Talhouni said Nasser had delegate Anwar Sadat, chairman of the National Assembly, receive a letter King Hussein had written to Nasser. But there was no other indication that Sadat was taking over the reins.

The Beirut newspaper Al-Jarida said Nasser had postponed a trip to the Soviet Union that was scheduled for Sept. 23 because he feared that a Soviet-engineered plot to overthrow him was being planned.

The report said Nasser had purged several of his top pro-Russian colleagues, headed by former Prime Minister Ali Sabry, for many years one of Nasser's closest aides.

According to Al-Jarida, "informed Egyptian" said the Soviets intended to replace Nasser with Sabry during Nasser's stay in the Soviet Union. The report said the Kremlin wanted a change because of a disagreement over Nasser's demand for more arms "and on the Middle East question as a whole."

There was no official confirmation that a purge had taken place. But Cairo announced Tuesday that there had been changes in the top echelon of the newspaper Al-Akhar, and the paper's top men were known to be close to Sabry.

Vote Reform Plan Clears Big Hurdle

WASHINGTON (AP) — An electoral reform plan to let the people vote directly for president has cleared a major hurdle in the House with defeat of plans to preserve the Electoral College in modified form.

With a 192-159 vote Wednesday, the House defeated a plan which would have given presidential candidates electoral votes on the basis of congressional districts carried rather than on the basis of state carried.

They proposed was the major alternative to the direct popular vote plan, which House leaders said may come up for a vote today.

Whatever proposal is finally agreed upon must pass both houses of Congress with a two-third majority before it can be submitted to state legislatures as a constitutional amendment. Final ratification takes approval by three-fourths of the 50 state legislatures.

The popular vote plan eliminates entirely the Electoral College in favor of a direct vote. Should no presidential candidate receive 40 per cent of the vote, there would be a runoff election.

Rejected on a 98-65 vote was a proposal by Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., which would have kept the present system, but required electors to cast their votes according to popular votes in their states.

OEO Wants Efficiency, Not Handout, In Work Programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration is using a business profit and loss statement—rather than social gain—to measure progress by some experimental community action firm.

Spokesmen for the federal anti-poverty program acknowledge piling dozens of hard-core poor from the payroll in at least two projects—one in a big city ghetto, the other in a rural southern town—that verged on bankruptcy.

But they argue their aim is to put the firms on their feet so that ultimately they can employ the jobless rather than letting the firms become another form of welfare agency.

"The criteria for success in this field is the creation of a viable business enterprise... there's not going to be a never-ending transfusion of dough," says Geoffrey Faux, chief of the Office of Economic Opportunity's Economic Development Branch.

"We know they're not going to be as efficient as General Motors, but the question is can they at least support themselves and maybe make a profit," said another official of OEO, the federal government's anti-poverty agency.

The official, who asked not to be identified, said the Nixon administration is more interested in the ability of these projects to support themselves and less interested in getting the hard-core poor on some sort of payroll.

"There will be screams and howls of protest from all over," he said. "Albina is just the first."

Albina is the Albina Corp. of Portland, Ore., founded, operated and manned almost entirely by blacks in the city's ghetto. Located in a former bowling alley, the metal, plastics and fiberglass manufacturing firm has processed a number of government and private contracts since its founding a year ago. But its president, Mayfield Webb, says pressure from Washington has forced it to drop some social goal and aim for a quick profit.

"We have felt the effect of the new administration in Washington," says Webb, a lawyer and NAACP official. "The program people are not being listened to. It's the financial people now," he says of what he calls new orders from OEO.

OEO is considering Albina's application for a new $400,000 grant. It already has made grants totaling $386,545. Webb says "everything will go down the drain" without the additional funds.

When the corporation ran into a delay in tooling up for a $1.2 million Department of Defense contract for steel ammunition boxes, OEO took a close look at the corporation and suggested several changes in management methods.

Webb says the basic difference is that OEO wants Albina to start showing a profit quickly. He says the original idea was to think about cash profits in two or three years while concentrating now on widespread employment of the hard-core jobless; of helping to start other black businesses; of generally benefiting the Albina district where most of Portland's 18,000 blacks live.

Webb says the project will get back to those goals once it starts making money. In the meantime, several of the hard-core poor have been dropped from the payroll and some experienced whites have been brought in at wages higher than those paid to the blacks. The whites, however, don't participate in Albina's profit-sharing plan.

Demos, GOP Trade Barbs About Do-Nothing Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic-controlled Congress and Republican administration are at each other's throats after a nine-months political honeymoon.

This became evident Wednesday when House Democratic leaders lashed out at GOP criticism of Congress.

Speaker John McCormack, following a Democratic caucus, told reporters: "It is not a question of a do-nothing Democratic Congress but of a noncooperative Republican administration."

And Democratic Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma said: "If anyone should be shy about raising the 'do-nothing' issue it should be the Nixon administration."

The caucus approved a resolution criticizing the administration for failing to take a position on much of the legislation before Congress.

It also backed another resolution making the 1968 Democratic party platform the blueprint for a legislative program in this Congress.

"We've waited for the administration to come forward with a program," said Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fa., sponsor of one caucus resolution. "Now it is necessary for us to take the initiative and present our own program."

The Democratic activity followed reports the GOP administration is thinking of trying to hang a "do-nothing" label on the 91st Congress in the style of the former President Harry S. Truman successfully used against the GOP-controlled 80th Congress.

Nixon talked the situation over with his GOP congressional leaders Tuesday. Another session is set for Friday with a view to drafting a priority list of administration requests.

"This Congress is at work," Albert said. "If it has done any waiting, that waiting has been on the executive agencies and the Bureau of the Budget for reports on the bills introduced by Democrats and referred to committees of Congress."

Since convening in January the Congress has enacted an increase in the public debt ceiling and extended the income surcharge for six months. An elementary school bill, tax reform and cigarette labeling bill have cleared the House but are tied up in the Senate. None of the appropriation bills to finance government agencies yet have cleared both branches of Congress.

Smith apparently walked into the side of a moving car operated by Donna M. Cummings, 21, Ashville, according to Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Billy Dountz.

At 3:55 p. m. Wednesday, Brenda Payne, 16, 405 N. Scioto St., lost control of her car on the Circleville - Tarleton - Northern Road near the Morris-Leist Road.

She and a passenger in the car, Nancy Selin, 16, Circleville, sustained abrasions of the head and knees. They were treated and released by the Berger Hospital emergency staff. The accident was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Robert Hoover.

Services will be 10:30 a.m. Saturday at the Defenbaugh Funeral Home with the Rev. Carl Zehner officiating. Burial will be in Forest Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 2 p.m. Friday.

County School Enrollment Set
Final beginning enrollment figures for the county schools have been released by Superintendent George McDowell.

The total enrollment of the three county districts was 5,577, an increase of 327 pupils from last year. This is equivalent to 11 new teaching units of 30 pupils each.

At present there is little space for new students in the district, especially in the elementary buildings of Teays Valley and Logan Elm districts. If enrollment increases proportionately next year as expected, all three districts will face shortage problems.

The 1969 - 70 enrollment according to district shows Westfall with an enrollment of 1,679 in their five buildings, Teays Valley has 2,587 in four district schools and Logan Elm's four have a total of 1,311.

OEO Wants . . . New Illinois Solon Already Democrat Campaign Target

To do this, OEO is sending in professional management consulting teams to work with community development corporations, and train the ghetto executives about cost accounting and writing financial statements.

Crawfordville Enterprises in Crawfordville, Ga., (population 3,500) found this out last spring when, after running into one financial crisis after another, it looked to OEO for refunding. OEO agreed, but only after the community development corporation agreed to retain a professional management consulting firm acceptable to OEO.

"People that didn't produce were let go," said the OEO official. "This gave incentive to others that to get paid they had to produce."

Now, OEO says Crawfordville Enterprises is beginning to make progress in dealing with its fundamental problem of creating job opportunities to reduce migration from the town. It already is the largest employer in the county. Numbered among its projects are a textile manufacturing business, a small credit union and an agricultural cooperative.

OEO's emphasis on keeping a closer watch on where its money goes appears to bear the stamp of its new director, Donald Rumsfeld. Shortly after his appointment to the agency by President Nixon in April, Rumsfeld said in an interview: "OEO will develop approaches and ideas that can be tested and made workable . . . and if they cannot work, they will be stopped."

He added that failures are to be expected, but said, "Every finding that things do not work is progress when you are in the research and development field. Part of the past difficulties in this field have arisen because there is so much we do not know."

Once the other side is genuinely willing to reach agreement, he said, "The practical solutions can readily be found."

Then he voiced his appeal: "This makes it urgent that the U.N. members who have long taken an active interest in peace in Vietnam now take an active hand in achieving it . . ."

"In the name of peace, I urge all of you here—representing 126 nations—to use your best diplomatic efforts to persuade Hanoi to move seriously into the negotiations which could end this war."

The Soviet Union was taken to task by Nixon, for not yet agreeing to negotiations on limitation of strategic arms.

President . . .
(Continued from Page 1) once again said "our one limited but fundamental objective" there is to ensure South Vietnam's right of self-determination without outside interference. On that point, the United States will not compromise, he stated. As for lack of progress in Paris, he said:

"The missing ingredient so far has been the willingness of the other side to talk on any terms other than those that would predetermine the result and deny the right of self-determination to the people of South Vietnam."

Once the other side is genuinely willing to reach agreement, he said, "The practical solutions can readily be found."

Food Rises Continue

Housewives may not be overly concerned about why food prices are rising, but the fact that they continue to go up is becoming of particular concern to the homemaker who must plan her meals on a budget. Boycotts are threatened, conversations about prices are heated, and letters are being written.

In attempting to explain price increases by pointing to inflation, Agriculture Department officials usually cite only enough relevant facts to make the farmer and the middle man (distributor, processor, etc) angry at one another.

The farmer is getting a smaller share of the dollar spent for food than at any time in recent history. But that doesn't mean the baker or the distributor are getting rich. Twenty years ago, the farmer received 3.3 cent for the ingredients in a one pound white loaf of bread selling for 13.5 cents. Today, that same loaf sells for 22.9 cents and the farmer still receives 3.3 cents for his contribution.

But, according to a Cornell University study, supermarket chain industry profits have dropped from 1.4 percent in 1964 to less than one percent last year. Costs for both farmer and major distributors have increased faster than the prices they charge.

This is not good news for the housewife. Pressures indicate the ceiling will continue to go higher.

Kindly cancel our subscription to the one that blows apart."

Remember Houdini, self-styled "The Great Escape King?" He could wriggle his way loose from bolts, chains, locked trunks, even shackles imposed by experts from Scotland Yard. But he couldn't get out of a snowbank he fell into on a blustery, blizzard day in Chicago. It took four policemen to pull him out. They say he persuaded them not to tell the story to reporters with a passel of free tickets to his show.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Hemorrhoids and other disorders involving the rectal area can be most distressing. Far too frequently, the early signs are neglected.

Fissures of the anal opening and fistulas, may be found along with hemorrhoids without being related to them.

A chronic inflammation of the lining of the rectal area may be caused by injury, drugs, allergy to antibiotics and to specific infectious germs. When neglected, the condition may lead to a fistula formation, which is a tiny hole that penetrates the rectal wall.

A fistula is different from an anal fissure. A fissure is a crack or break in the skin at the opening of the anus. Fissures are sometimes confused with hemorrhoids because of the presence of a single sentinel pile that frequently accompanies it.

Both the fistula and the fissure cause considerable distress and pain and must be intensively studied to find the exact cause. Unless this is done both conditions may temporarily heal, only to start up again if the underlying cause persists.

Treatment too often fails because the patient becomes neglectful. Many treatments are available, all of which are chosen for the needs of each individual.

Hemorrhoids are undoubtedly the most common and probably the most annoying of all anorectal conditions. Dr. Irving Schoenfeld, a specialist in proctology in New York City, says, "Neglect of anorectal disorders converts simple problems that might have been spared surgery into complicated problems that make surgery imperative. If early symptoms alert the patient to seek the advice of his physician, he is spared long, time-consuming and expensive treatments."

Hemorrhoids are enlargements of the veins around the rectal opening. There are two types: the internal and the external and both are frequently present at the same time.

The major causes of hemorrhoids or piles are chronic constipation, rectal infections and inflammation, sensitivity to antibiotics and straining during bowel movements.

Frequently the enlarged veins develop clots or "thrombi" and are associated with pain, severe itching and bleeding. I would like my readers to note that itching is really a form of pain and must be respected as an early symptom of some disturbance.

Treatment for both internal and external hemorrhoids depends on the severity of the condition and the length of time it has existed. Applications of heat by wet dressings, sitz baths, regulation of diet and improvement of bowel habits are combined with well-chosen ointments to bring relief in early cases of hemorrhoids.

Injections of sclerosing drugs and surgery depend on the severity of the condition and the judgment of the doctor. Unnecessary delay of surgery when advised can only lead to more difficulties.

Putting Kids Out To Pasture

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Whatever the 400,000 young people who turned out for the rock music festival last month in the Catskills were doing (were they there for the music or just for the satisfaction of making a fashionable scene?), they weren't working.

Probably most of them had no desire to put in a busy summer doing the jobs that boys and girls used to do. Even with the $30-billion-a-year cost of running the Vietnamese war we are sufficiently affluent to disperse with the services of 400,000 teen-age youngsters. But if this sort of thing is to continue it will hardly consort with the accent on work that one finds in almost every paragraph of the proposed Nixon welfare program. Daniel Moynihan, Arthur Burns and the other White House advisers responsible for the program agree on insisting that the teaching of work skills must become the major welfare industry of the New Federalism. The teen-age years are the time to learn these skills; by the time a person has reached his twenties and thirties it is often too late to provide the necessary motivation.

If the 400,000 rock festival (and marijuana?) addicts had really wanted to be working during the summer, they would have found the cards stacked against them. Almost every month the National Federation of Independent Business, Inc., comes up with new statistical proofs that the wage-hour law of 1966, which applies indiscriminately to new apprentices as well as to old hands, keeps teenagers from making connection with jobs. The most recent computer analysis of 57,000 answers to a National Federation field survey indicates that 500,000 jobs which formerly existed for teenagers have simply disappeared because the minimum wage laws make no allowance for beginners who must be trained in certain routines before they are worth the money that must be paid to them.

Before 1966, according to the National Federation survey, almost 40 percent of the five million small independent business firms of America employed teen-agers. Today, 45 percent of this 40 percent no longer have any of the under-twenty crowd on their payrolls. The wage-hour law is cited by practically all of them as responsible for their change in policy.

The National Federation's computer deals in statistics, which are necessarily dry. But some of the comments which the respondent businesses send in with their arithmetical replies put real human interest flesh on the statistical bones. An upstate New York printer who once employed six teen-agers and now employs none writes that "the minimum wage on teen-agers is a sad situation . . . Many come to us seeking work but we cannot afford to hire them at $1.60 an hour plus other expenses involved in hiring them." An Oklahoma service firm operator says, "The cost of training young, inexperienced help is too high at $1.60 per hour. We have shortened our hours of service, after thirty-six years in business, because we cannot afford $1.60 per hour to train kids."

The draft complicates things for employers who might, even at $1.60 an hour, be willing to hire apprentices. A Michigan metal working plant has to train some tool and die makers at a cost of $26,000 per man over a four-year period. Tool and die apprentices are exempted from the draft during their training. But the minute they qualify as journeyman tool and die makers they are classified by the draft boards as I-A. Says the owner of the Michigan plant, "God help us if we are ever so unfortunate as to go through another Pearl Harbor. Then we had skilled tradesmen to tool up for a war. I personally fear for our beloved U.S. with the conditions we have today."

So 400,000 teen-agers loll about the Catskills, breathing marijuana fumes at a time when U.S. small businesses can't afford to hire apprentices and the Nixon government talks about the exalted value of cultivating good work habits. Something is wrong with the Congressmen we send to Washington to put us in a box like this.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, Sept. 18, the 261st day of 1969. There are 104 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history. On this date in 1793, President George Washington laid the cornerstone of the U.S. Capitol building in Washington.

On this date: In 1759, the French formally surrendered Quebec to the British.

In 1810, Chile declared independence from Spain.

In 1850, the U.S. Congress passed the Fugitive Slave Act, permitting slave-owners to reclaim slaves who had escaped into other states.

In 1931, Japan began military occupation of Manchuria.

In 1961, U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld was killed in an airplane crash in northern Rhodesia.

In 1963, an Indonesian mob sacked and burned the British embassy in Jakarta.

Ten years ago — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, addressed the United Nations General Assembly and called for disarmament of all nations within the next four years.

Five years ago — Two U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin off North Vietnam fired on and presumably hit what were believed to be four or five hostile ships.

One year ago — Demonstrations halted registration at Columbia University in New York.

Letter To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

Dear Editor:

Of prime importance for the month of September is the preparation and planning programs for the celebration of Constitution Week, Sept. 17-23, encompassing the 182nd anniversary of the ratification of the Constitution of the United States of America.

It is the duty of every citizen in the United States to observe Constitution Week in some appropriate manner and to stimulate interest among the general public of the importance of this wonderful document which has brought our country to its present level of prosperity and culture.

The Constitution has pointed the way and has been the beacon light for the United States of America and the world. Let us all unite to show our love and reverence for the great document which has been rightly called "the most wonderful work ever struck off at a given time by the brain and purpose of man."

Half the citizens do not even take the trouble to vote, and it is the duty of every citizen to vote. Go to the polls and vote this fall and be sure to cast your ballot.

It is human nature to take an inheritance for granted, to accept it as a matter of course, to deem it unnecessary to defend that which others have fought for, that it might be ours. So with many voices raised in criticism of America, few think it worth while to call attention to the incalculable value of these institutions, traditions and ideals. How is a new generation to learn that there is anything worthwhile in them?

To fight for one's country when its life is threatened by violence is noble and heroic; to stand up for it in peace time is a virtue quite as necessary. And unless there be such virtue in citizenship, our traditions will be forgotten, and our ideals neglected and our institutions will crumble.

The late President Dwight D. Eisenhower said, and I quote: "I recommend to you the basic documents of our American civilization, The Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States of America. Read them — and then ponder their meaning. They are my handbooks."

Our nation today is faced with a crisis which threatens the very principles which made this country great. We are faced with a breakdown of the law and order upon which this Country was founded and without which we and our children will live under anarchy. The challenge to the modern patriot is to get this Nation back on its true course. One must go forward with the times, but not by compromising one's ideals. We must be prepared to fight for our American Heritage — our freedom and our ideals.

We believe it to be the sacred duty of every loyal American to stand staunchly for patriotism and love of Country and respect for its flag. In recent decades, there have been persistent efforts to belittle and discourage the very beliefs that made our Country great. "Be ye doers of the Word and not hearers only . . ." It is up to the American people where the United States of America with its great Christian beginnings, will go from this time forward. Will they remember their sacred heritage, their obligation to generations to come? Will they strive to preserve and pass onto posterity the blessings of this free land?

"Let us all pledge ourselves to re-dedicate ourselves as good Americans during Constitution week."

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk comments by a Pavement Plasterer:

A common dream among American girls today—and among many young men for that matter—is the dream of marrying a millionaire.

One wonders why. But if you ask a poor working girl the reason she'd like to marry a millionaire—any millionaire—she looks at you as if you had gone daft and replies: "Because he's got all that money."

It could be that a millionaire might also have aene, ulcers, athlete's foot, and a cast in his eye. It makes no difference. He's still got all that money.

Of course, when a girl dreams of marrying a millionaire she idealizes him as well as his money. She envisions him as tall, dark and handsome, young, deeply romantic, poetic and generous to a fault. She has the idea that the first thing he will do after they leave the church is to take a bag of gold off his shoulder and divide it into two piles—his and hers.

And since he is generous to a fault, he will gallantly see that her pile is slightly larger than his.

The fault with this picture is that it is hardly typical of the average millionaire.

Your run-of-the-mill millionaire is usually middle-aged, partly bald, has a bulgy stomach and is already married to a woman who watches over him and his money like a hungry vulture. Romantic? Pah! Like any other cost accountant, the figures that interest him most are those in a ledger.

Suppose, however, he is still a bachelor. Do you think that, like Prince Charming, he spends his days and nights running around the kingdom trying to fit a glass slipper to a poor but honest sackcloth-clad Cinderella.

Not him. Making money is ordinarily a time-consuming passion in itself. Your ordinary millionaire has no idle hours to spend in vain pursuits. Ask him if he is looking for a poor working girl to marry, and he'll reply:

"Are you out of your mind? I already have one dependent I'm supporting—Uncle Sam. What do I need with another?" Money likes to mate with money. A millionaire sees no logical reason why it isn't as easy for him to marry a rich girl—thus parlaying his fortune—as it is to marry a poor girl with no social position.

Alas, for the fading dreams of the poor working girl. But an even colder-watered truth applies to the poor young man who wants to wed a millionaire.

Even if this dream should come true, it probably would turn into a nightmare. For when a rich woman marries a poor man for his charm she gets the better of the bargain. She gets his charm—but that doesn't mean he gets her money.

A rich woman tends to wear a poor husband as if he were a watchfob. He is a dollar-pecked prisoner of her purse strings and must beg prettily for his spending money or a new suit. She may give him a bright new sports car, but if that same evening she thinks he pays too much attention to another woman, she can take it back the next morning. And she will.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Predictions that containerization is the wave of the future in shipping have been dampened a bit by an insurer who claims that waves of another sort are causing heavy insurance claims.

The container, which is called the greatest advance in packaging since the paper bag, usually is a large metal box of standard dimensions that can be interchanged easily among truck, train, plane and ship.

During these moves the cargoes contained therein never are handled individually. In fact, from the time the box is sealed until it arrives at its destination, the cargoes never are exposed to light of day.

Big savings are claimed. Pilferage supposedly is cut down. Damages caused by rehandling are lessened. Interchanges are speedy. And because the containers are of a standard size—often 8 feet by 8 feet by 40 feet—they can be stored efficiently.

Now comes Capt. William Warm, an insurance man and a member of the container committee of the American Institute of Marine Underwriters. All is not well as it appears, he claims, at least in severe weather at sea.

The problem, he says, occurs mainly when shippers store the big boxes on the decks in an effort to utilize every possible storage area. Many of these containers are lost overboard, the captain says.

"Cut crystal, furniture, liquor, wines, electronic equipment and so on—completely lost," he told a shipping conference here.

Miss Lynda Myree Writsel Bride Of Edward E. Conrad

MRS. EDWARD EARL CONRAD

Derby United Methodist Church was the setting Sunday, September 14, when Lynda Myree Writsel became the bride of Edward Earl Conrad. The 3 p.m. ceremony was performed by Rev. Lillian Wright of the Derby Church and Rev. Frank A. White of the New Holland United Methodist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milo Writsel, Route 1, Orient, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Conrad, Route 1, New Holland.

A program of pre-nuptial music was presented by Linda Vance, organist, Jerry Chiles, of Falmouth, Ky., cousin of the groom, sang "The Day Of Golden Promise," "Because," and "I'll Walk Beside Thee."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown was fashioned by her mother of imported Italian crepe with short full sleeves, stand-up collar, and empire waist. The skirt was fitted in front and gathered full on the sides and in back where the hem lengthened into a short train. A front bow of the same fabric was added at the high waist with its streamers reaching almost to the hem of the gown. The shoulder-length veil fell from a three-tiered bow. Her bridal bouquet was of French feathered carnations and fall-shaded mums with a touch of bittersweet.

Laura Writsel was her sister's maid of honor. Her gown was of rayon peau satin in a dark brown shade, fashioned with princess lines and short sleeves. A brown satin bow with brown veiling was worn as a headpiece.

Karen Blackburn of Worthington, was her cousin's bridesmaid and wore an orange satin gown and headpiece fashioned identical to those worn by the maid-of-honor.

Flower girl was Karen Conrad, niece of the groom. Her gown and headpiece were of yellow satin, fashioned like the attendants. Attendants and the flower girl carried baskets of fall shaded mums with bittersweet.

Ringbearer was Carl Siegrist of Cincinnati, nephew of the groom.

Bridegroom attendants were Wayne Norris as best man and Donald Conrad, brother of the groom, both of New Holland. Larry Shaeffer and Russell White of New Holland seated the wedding guests.

The bride's mother wore a peach-colored knit dress with brown accessories. Mrs. Conrad wore a mint green silk and wool dress with matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of burnt-orange gladiolus.

A reception was held in the church fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. Hostesses were Mrs. Lloyd Covault and daughters, Cheryl and Jane, and Miss Vicki Vincent, of Route 1, Orient; Mrs. Charles Excell and daughter Diane of Valparaiso, Ind.; and Roberta Smith of Frederickburg.

For her wedding trip to Wisconsin, the bride wore a beige, gold, and green knit dress with brown accessories and the carnation corsage from her bouquet.

A graduate of Westfall High School and Elkhart Institute of Technology, the bride is assistant to Dr. Karl Becker, D.D.S., Columbus. The groom is a Westfall High School graduate and is a student at Ohio State University college of engineering. They will reside at 329 Broadmeadows Blvd., Worthington.

Ashville Garden Club Installs New Officers

Ashville Garden Club held its first fall meeting recently in the home of Miss Florence Brown, Ashville.

Miss Martha M. Brinker, president, opened the meeting with the club's Garden Prayer, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America.

Roll call was answered by the 14 members present stating where they had spent their summer vacations.

Mrs. Roger Hedges installed the new officers for the coming year, giving each one a resume of her duties and responsibilities. Officers are Mrs. Richard Hedges, president; Miss Brinker, first vice president; Mrs. Warner Hedges, second vice president; Mrs. Eugene Borror, recording secretary and Mrs. Glen Klopfenstein, treasurer.

After the installation ceremonies, Miss Brinker turned the meeting over to Mrs. Hedges.

Mrs. Hedges recognized Mrs. William Cromley, Mrs. Floyd Hook and Mrs. Isaac Millar as honorary members.

Standing committees announced by the new president are Miss Kathryn Decker, Mrs. Elmer Siegle and Mrs. George Kuhn, civic; Mrs. Carl Bennett and Miss Brinker, exhibit; Mrs. Warner Hedges and Mrs. Chester Rockey, flowers and good cheer; Mrs. Curtis Cromley, historian; Mrs. Cecil Noecker, Miss Frances Decker and Mrs. Willard Forman, membership; Mrs. Richard Hedges and Miss Florence Brown, press; Miss Brinker, Miss Brown, Mrs. Eugene Borror and Mrs. Roger Hedges, program; Mrs. T. Caldwell, Mrs. Dan Buskirk and Mrs. Homer Reber, transportation; Mrs. Paul Cromley, Mrs. Glen Klopfenstein and Mrs. Curtis Cromley, ways and means.

A tour of gardens followed the business session. The first garden visited was that of Harford and Miss Dhel Renick in Jackson Twp. Mr. Renick met the group and escorted them to his annual garden. The garden is laid out in formal Williamsburg style and is bounded on three sides by a white picket fence, almost entirely covered with blue morning glories. Blooming were blue salvia, pink geraniums, Popeye (pink) petunias, artemisia, white petunias, marine blue heliotrope, three varieties of creeping periwinkles, red and gold plum celosia, red, gold, pink and rose colored crested celosia; turenna, browallia, trawall daisies; Joseph's coat, four varieties of marigolds, ageratum and many others. All plants in the garden are grown by Mr. Renick from seeds. The members then went to the basement of the house where Mr. Renick has 300 African violets, gloxinias and other plants under artificial light.

From there they went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Hatfield, Route 1, Stoutsville. Mrs. Hatfield escorted the club members around the garden. They specialize in day lilies, but roses were in bloom and pycnantha on the front chimney was thriving. All plants were marked and even though not in bloom were readily identified.

The next meeting will be Oct. 9, in the Decker home with a tour of the Rev. Paul Beighley's dahlia garden in Lithopolis scheduled.

Pilot Dogs Inc. Hold Luncheon And Meeting

The women's board of Pilot Dogs, Inc. met Monday at the home of Mrs. Lon Cromley, Ashville. Lunch was served to the 30 members present followed with a business session.

Officers for 1969-70 are Mrs. Kenneth Merrick, president; Mrs. Russell Moore, vice president; Mrs. Ralph Smith, treasurer and Mrs. Lon Cromley, secretary.

Pilot Dogs Inc., Columbus, is a non-profit organization to train and furnish pilot dogs to guide blind persons. The dog, four weeks room and board for the student, all equipment and transportation are provided to the qualified applicant.

The dogs are put through a basic training program consisting of an extensive three to four months training period before they are ready to meet their blind masters. The blind person and the dog are trained together for an additional four week period.

Pilot Dogs Inc., trains five breeds, German shepherd, Doberman pinscher, Boxer, Labrador retriever and Golden retriever.

The project is sponsored entirely by public contributions. Church groups, clubs and service organizations are encouraged to participate in the scholarship program. Pilot Dogs, Inc. has presented 325 guide dogs to graduates.

Junior Women Introduce Committees

The September meeting of the Circleville Junior Women's Club was held recently in the home of Mrs. Robert Hedges. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Joe Smith, president. Guests present for the evening were Mrs. Terry Roof, Mrs. Carolyn Dahl, Mrs. Nancy Buntz, Mrs. Nancy Goodman, and Mrs. Clare Minge.

Mrs. Robert Ogden, Block Mother chairman, reported the Block Mother program initiated last year in the Atwater school district will be continued and hopefully they will try to extend it to one other school district this year. Mrs. Wayne Hatfield, community improvement chairman, reported she was continuing planning on the proposed ice rink project for Ted Lewis Park.

Following the business meeting an orientation discussion was held by Mrs. Smith. The standing committees were introduced and each chairman gave a short explanation of the duties of their respective committees.

Refreshments were served by co-hostesses Mrs. Paul Sarchet, Mrs. Lynn Heurman and Mrs. Richard Pettit.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Blamed For In-Law's Mistake

DEAR ABBY: My husband who now is in Vietnam brought me and our little boy to his parents' home to live for a year while he is away. I am from the Philippines and have no friends or relatives in this country. My in-laws have been very kind to me and seem to like me very much.

Now my problem: My husband has a 19-year-old brother who made me feel at once like a sister. On his days off he has taken me and my little boy to the beach, and to the park, and for drives. We were so happy. But last night a terrible thing happened. Around midnight when I was undressing for bed I heard my doorknob turn, and before I knew it Brother was inside my bedroom. I didn't scream because I didn't want to wake my little boy who sleeps with me, but I angrily motioned for Brother to get out and I opened the door. At that moment I saw my mother-in-law going from her bedroom to Brother's room. Seeing he was not there she went in and waited for him. Brother and I were frightened and just sat on my bed waiting for her to go back to her room. She didn't, instead she came into my room and when she saw us sitting there she started to yell terrible things at me. God knows nothing happened, but she blamed me, saying Brother was only 19, and I must have encouraged him. That is a lie, Abby. Then she said she didn't want me staying there any longer. How can I stay here now? Yet, how can I go home without upsetting my husband? He is sure to find out if I leave. What shall I tell him? Please tell me what to do. I am so lost and confused.

INNOCENT
DEAR INNOCENT: Stay. The truth will become evident very soon. Tell your father-in-law exactly what happened. He will believe you, and it won't take long before "Brother" admits that you were blameless. No one should write your husband about this. Time heals all wounds. (And wounds all heels.)

DEAR ABBY: I understand that when they take the 1970 census, one of the questions will be: HAVE YOU EVER HAD ANY ILLEGITIMATE CHILDREN?

Well, it just so happens, I

Tragedy Strikes

Bridge Work Near Gallipolis Shows Progress

GALLIPOLIS, Ohio (AP) — Pouring of concrete on the deck of the new Ohio River bridge near here is expected to start next week.

Metal forms which will remain as part of the new four-lane bridge replacing the ill-fated Silver Bridge, which collapsed Dec. 15, 1967, killing 46 persons have been put in place.

The work of pouring the deck will take from eight to 10 weeks. Officials of both Ohio and West Virginia would like to see traffic over the new span by Dec. 15, second anniversary of the collapse of the bridge between Kanawha, Ohio, and Point Pleasant, W. Va.

The Ohio approach, built from the U.S. 35 Gallipolis bypass to the site of the new span, is nearly complete.

September Preview Of Christmas

NOME, Alaska (AP) — Residents got a September preview of the holidays when a ship arrived bringing Christmas trees — plastic ones.

Plastic trees are the only kind available in this town about 100 miles south of the Arctic Circle. The nearest live trees are about 74 miles away and heavy snow usually prevents delivery of freshly cut spruce.

Laurelville News

By Mrs. Ray Poling

The Women's Society of the Christian Service of the Laurel Hills Methodist Church met Thursday evening at the church with Mrs. C. B. Chilcote and Mrs. Dwight Huggins as hostesses.

The meeting opened with a song, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Mrs. Dick Karr read from chapter 20 of Matthew for devotions.

The program, "This is Calcutta," was presented by Mrs. Phyllis Strous. "Hour Decisions" by Mrs. Frances Strous was given as the spiritual life portion of the meeting.

New officers installed at the meeting were: Mrs. Guy Tatum, president; Mrs. Phyllis Strous, vice president; Mrs. Robert Swepston, treasurer and Mrs. Jack Notestone, secretary. Refreshments were served to all present.

The first meeting of the Pleasant Valley Home Economic Club was held Sept. 9 at the trailer home of Mrs. Hugh Poling near Laurelville.

Mrs. Fred Weidman, president, was in charge of the meeting.

Devotions were read from the third chapter of Colossians. It was announced that Mrs. Burnell Karshner was elected as vice president of the county council at Logan.

Mrs. Charles Pritchard gave a talk on the short course she took at Ohio State University in June.

A new member, Mrs. Dale Van Curren, was admitted to the club. At noon a carry-in lunch was served to the following members: Miss Alice DeLong, Mrs. Murrell Karshner, Mrs. Burnell Karshner, Mrs. Charles Pritchard, Mrs. Earl DeLong, Mrs. Ray Poling, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Ebert, Mrs. Dorothy Haynes, Mrs. Dale Van Curren, Mrs. Fred Weidman and Mrs. Hugh Poling.

The next meeting will be Oct. 23 at the home of Miss Alice DeLong.

Mr. and Mrs. John Barr have moved into part of the former Wayne Armstrong home. Mr. Barr is a new high school teacher.

Mr. Charles Dean, who has been a faculty member of Laurelville school, is now principal at South Bloomingville school.

The Rev. Francis Huber and his family were honored at a reception in the church social rooms on Sunday evening by the congregation of the Laurel Hills Methodist church. He was presented with a gift of money during the evening.

Miss Becky McClelland, who spent the summer in Germany participating in a student work program, is spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr.

and Mrs. Merwin McClelland. Becky will leave in the near future for Austria, where she will attend college this year.

Miss Celesta Hoy was Sunday dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Swackhammer of Groveport.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hartsaugh and Doug of Circleville were Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hartsaugh.

Mr. Mack L. Gumm of Elkins, W. Va., spent several days with his sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Thurston.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Scott of Florida were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J.

Thurston. On Sunday they helped celebrate Mr. Thurston's 73 birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lee McCabe and family of Tarenton were Sunday guests of his parents Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McCabe.

Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. Hazel McNeal were guests last Tuesday of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Boecher in Columbus.

A picnic dinner was held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kerns of Marietta Pike. Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Boecher and Jane and Mrs. Ruth Boecher, all of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Boecher Jr. and daughter Dana and Mr. and Mrs. David Carnes and sons of Chillicothe and Mrs. Hazel McNeal of Laurelville.

Mr. Paul Armstrong returned home Saturday after several weeks in University Hospital, Columbus for an operation and treatment.

Cards and letters would be appreciated by Sgt. Terry Thompson, E-277-46-0035, Ward

C-3, 106 General Hospital, APO San Francisco, California.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Grunden were Rev. and Mrs. James Patterson of Waverly, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hart and son Denny of South Bloomingville, Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Grunden of Circleville and Mr. Mike Kneese of Laurelville.

Congress Urged To End Harsh Marijuana Penalties

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Drug abuse is primarily a medical and social problem made worse by severe laws with harsh mandatory penalties, say two leading federal experts.

They urged Congress Wednesday to abolish all mandatory sentences for possession and use of marijuana.

One of the witnesses, Dr. Sidney Cohen, head of the drug abuse section of the National Institute of Mental Health, went so far as to recommend the possession of marijuana—and such hallucinogens as LSD—be dealt with as misdemeanors, not felonies.

The institute's head, Dr. Stanley F. Yolles, said that in terms of ruined lives, the penalties for using marijuana are far worse than the substance they were meant to control.

The present law—which provides sentences up to 40 years for some offenses—has no provision for probation or parole in any case except a first-offense conviction for possession of narcotics, marijuana or dangerous drugs.

In a strongly worded statement, Yolles said: "It is extremely unfortunate that by the continued, exaggerated emphasis on the supposed dire evils of marijuana smoking, we make it extremely difficult to tell people what the real risk of use of specific drugs are.

"A youngster who smokes one marijuana cigarette is not a dope fiend, even though misguided individuals in the past have made this association."

Yolles was commended for his testimony by Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, chairman of a Judiciary subcommittee now considering legislation to restructure existing U.S. narcotics law.

"What must be emphasized," Dr. Cohen said Wednesday, "is that Dr. Yolles and I are not 'soft' on drugs."

"It is evident that strict controls over the illicit manufacture, transportation, smuggling and dealing in large amounts of abusable substances are necessary and desirable," he said.

"It is also evident that more stringent laws . . . for simple possession and use of these same substances have not been effective. Their abuse is a problem of prevention, education and treatment."

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell testified earlier in support of the administration's narcotics bill, stating it would make the law more flexible and allow judges limited discretion in granting probation for some offenses.

The Justice Department recently announced a crackdown on marijuana smuggling across the Mexican border.

Speech Clinic To Resume

The Pickaway County Speech and Hearing Center, under the supervision of the State Board of Health, will resume fall speech classes Oct. 4.

The center, located at Mound Street Elementary School, sees an equal number of students from the Circleville city and county schools. Many of the clients are referred by teachers, but referrals also come from other professionals in the county and parents.

The present caseload is comprised primarily of children between the ages of six and twelve. Articulatory disorders account for the highest percentage of clients at the center, which range from mild to severe. The disorders of language delay, cerebral palsy, voice, hearing difficulties, stuttering and aphasia account for the remainder of the caseload.

Mr. Louis J. Rosso, a doctoral student at the Ohio State University, is supervisor. The local coordinator for the clinic is Mrs. Paul Schein of Williamsport and the secretary is Mrs. Montford Kirkwood of Circleville. Also, the Pickaway County Society for Crippled Children and Adults supports the center by providing assistance and refreshments at each Saturday session. Completing the staff, four speech and hearing therapists from the Ohio State University will travel to Circleville each Saturday.

The center will be evaluating additional clients each week. Please contact Mrs. Paul Schein at 986-3199 for additional referral information.

Organized Labor Split To Widen

By NEIL GILBRIDE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor's worst split in recent times will widen next month when the AFL-CIO moves to kick out the International Chemical Workers for joining Walter Reuther's Alliance for Labor Action.

"It's a hard decision but there's no choice," said a high AFL-CIO official. "We're between a rock and a hard place."

George Meany, 75-year-old president of the 13.6 million member AFL-CIO, wants the Chemical Workers expelled as a lesson to the federation's 121 other unions that they can't have one foot in his camp and the other in Reuther's.

Reuther pulled his 1.6 million member Auto Workers union out of the AFL-CIO after a long attack on Meany's leadership and joined the 1.9 million member Teamsters union in founding the Alliance several months ago. The Teamsters were kicked out of the federation 12 years ago on corruption charges.

The split is the most serious in labor's ranks since the late Mineworkers President John L. Lewis formed the CIO in a break with the AFL in 1930. The 110,000-member Chemical workers is the first, and so far the only, AFL-CIO union to join the Alliance.

Meany views the Alliance for Labor Action as a competitive organization, damaging to the trade union movement. He is determined to nip it in the bud and avoid the 20-years of internal labor strife sparked by Lewis and the old CIO. The AFL and the CIO finally buried the hatchet in the 1955 merger. "This is history repeating itself," Meany said in a recent interview about Reuther's split and formation of the Alliance for Labor Action.

The showdown over the Chemical workers will come next month at the AFL-CIO's convention in Atlantic City.

Meany will turn over the direction of the Chemical Workers' expulsion to Lane Kirkland, his longtime executive assistant recently elevated to secretary treasurer of the AFL-CIO.

"It will be the first test of Lane's generalship," the federation official said. The trick will be to persuade other AFL-CIO leaders that expelling the Chemical Workers is necessary to prevent further defections, and to pin the blame for labor's new split on Reuther, not on the Teamsters. Most AFL-CIO leaders believe the Teamsters have cleansed themselves of the corruption charges that led to their 1957 expulsion and want the powerful union back in the federation.

Los Angeles Teachers Open Class Boycott

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A majority of the city's 25,000 teachers promised to boycott their classes today and hold a massive protest march in support of wage demands.

Leaders of the 19,000-member Association of Classroom Teachers predicted Wednesday night that at least 15,000 elementary and high school teachers would turn out for a morning rally at a mall in the downtown Civic Center.

Others were assigned picket duty at the 650 affected schools, which serve 674,000 pupils.

A spokesman said the idea was to "effectually shut down" the school system, second in size nationally to New York City's, for one day.

Joining in the walkout and protest march are representatives of the 3,000-member Los Angeles local of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers, plus students and others who pledged to support the teachers.

After the rally, the teachers planned to walk about two blocks down Grand Avenue to the school district headquarters and possibly seek a meeting with Mayor Sam Yorty.

Jack P. Crowther, superintendent of schools, failed in two attempts to outlaw the walkout through court action.

Superior Court Judge Richard Schauer refused both times—on constitutional grounds—to grant a temporary restraining order.

The Board of Education made an offer of a 5 per cent wage boost last Thursday, saying it would cost the city an extra $17 million annually. This would have revised the salary scale from the present $7,000-$13,000 a year to $7,350-$13,650.

ACT is seeking raises of 14 to 23 per cent and AFT wants a $1,000-per-year hike for all teachers.

Watershed Cash OK'd

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Pine Creek Watershed project in Jackson, Lawrence and Scioto counties has received approval for federal assistance under the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act.

Raymond S. Brown, state conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service here who announced the approval, said the sponsors are the Lawrence and Scioto county commissioners, the city of Ironton, the village of South Webster and soil conservation districts.

The Pine Creek Conservancy District has been formed to carry on the local responsibilities in the project, which includes 118,500 acres. In addition to watershed land treatment, the plan calls for 11 foodwater retaining structures. Included in these is one large recreational development in the Wayne National Forest.

Estimated federal cost of the project is $6.4 million.

Hayden Stone Sued For $543,000

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati man sued Hayden Stone Inc. for $543,000 Wednesday as a result of transactions the investment firm handled for him. Dennis Donovan, a local businessman, brought the suit in U.S. District Court asking $500,000 damage to his reputation and $43,000 he said he lost in the stock dealings.

CINCINNATI (AP) — When Barbara Shutt's first degree murder trial opens Monday her attorneys will try to prove that she was "not present" when her foster mother was slain at her home here May 25.

Attorneys Bernrad Gilday Jr. and Vernon McDaniel filed a notice of alibi Tuesday with Common Pleas Court. It said that Miss Shutt, 23, was on her way to and from the Red Fox Stables in adjacent Clermont County when Dr. Jane Shutt, 43, a psychiatrist, was bludgeoned and shot to death.

Prior to being charged, Miss Shutt told police that she had left home about 9:30 a.m. and returned shortly after the body was found about 11:30 a.m.

California Honors American Indians

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California has honored two American Indians—proclaimed the state's oldest citizens with 232 years between them—by presenting them with hand-carved wooden statues of grizzly bears.

Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke officiated at the brief ceremony for Mrs. Tatzumie DuPea, a 120-year-old Paiute, and Chief Sitting Bull, who claims to be the 112-year-old son of Sitting Bull.

They were proclaimed the state's oldest citizens recently by the California Bicentennial Celebration Commission. Their names were inscribed in silver on the statues.

Patients Can Sound Off On Medical Care In Poll

By ROB WOOD
Associated Press Writer
CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Patients will have a chance to give their opinions on the adequacy of the nation's health care system in a survey getting under way this month.

The survey will permit patients to sound off about their problems in obtaining medical care, their confusion about what constitutes good care, where to obtain it and how to pay for it.

Numerous medical surveys have been conducted in recent years, "but none of them have really focused on the problems confronting the patient," explained the survey's originator, Dr. C. Arden Miller, vice chancellor of health services at the University of North Carolina.

A panel of leaders in business, politics and the professions will hold public hearings, review the findings of field study teams, and make recommendations to the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The survey is funded by a federal grant.

Miller will be co-chairman of the panel with Dr. Lester Breslow, professor of public health administration at UCLA.

The 24-member panel, which will include Julian Bond, Georgia state representative, will operate out of Washington.

Field workers will conduct hearings in other communities, particularly in rural North Carolina and metropolitan Southern California.

Miller said his panel "is not out to prepare any expose on medical care."

"Instead," he said, "we will simply collect the viewpoints of patients in an effort to improve the medical care citizens now receive."

He said the study will deliberately seek "to arouse physicians and other key individuals to explore and adopt solutions to the massive and growing problems of health care, not merely describe and analyze the situation in bureaucratic prose."

Survey teams also will attempt to compare the medical care received by the majority of Americans with that received by the poor, and to contrast medical care as seen by the health professional to that seen by the patients.

"This type of survey may bring more questions than answers," Miller said, but at least we will know what the patient is thinking and what are his major concerns about his medical care."

Testimony Resumes In Mayor's Trial

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP) — Testimony was to resume today in the proceedings against Russell's Point Mayor Lloyd Pickering, accused by five residents of misfeasance and malfeasance in office.

The residents charge that Pickering fired shotgun blasts into crowds of youths during the July 4 holiday weekend.

Views on Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Two new offerings, presented on ABC and NBC Wednesday night, promise to be fine additions to the television season: "Room 222" and "Then Came Bronson."

Bronson first rode his motorcycle onto the NBC screen last season in one of those movies-for-TV and it appeared to be just another action show, about a laconic young man riding a motorcycle from adventure to adventure.

But if the series' first episode is typical, it will be much more. The program had Bronson picking up a job at a summer camp for disturbed children. The story then focused on a boy who was completely withdrawn, without speech and self-destructive.

The hour was primarily devoted to showing how Bronson used the boy's affection and interest in the motorcycle to reach his troubled mind. Although the story was a delicate tapestry it was not without drama. The boy escaped from Bronson during a critical moment and his final breakthrough was moving.

Michael Parks in the title role is a silent, sober young man who reminds one of the late James Dean. The opening segment, however, was stolen by Mark Lester, who played the disturbed boy with conviction.

"Room 222" centered on Pete Dixon, a history teacher in a big city high school. The first episode, introducing the continuing characters, told how a sympathetic and involved instructor kept a bright pupil from being shipped to an inferior school.

While the physical background of the half-hour ABC series is reminiscent of the old "Mr. Novak" series, this one tackles schools and teachers from another angle. It probably must be counted a situation comedy—what else has a laugh track?—but Lloyd Haynes, a newcomer, makes a vital, attractive young man of the history teacher. The fact that he is black is noted, but not hampered in.

The program made its points, about learning, about human and race relations, but with dispatch and managed to get in some rich humor and amusing lines frequently.

"The Courtship of Eddie's Father," which preceded it on ABC, fared less well. Central characters in this were a young widower, played by Bill Bixby, and the 6-year-old son who even in the first show seemed to be the more mature, less flappable.

The show's gimmick apparently will be the boy's determination to find a wife for his father. In the first episode he invited home a candidate, but it all moved rather slowly and predictably. Miyoshi Ymekl played the family housekeeper and some of the jokes were based on language problems.

The series aims to pluck the heartstrings while evoking laughter, but falls a bit flat.

Ohio Auto Theft Ring Is Object Of Police Probe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Police in Columbus and Cleveland reportedly are cooperating to break a three or four state auto theft ring that may be netting thousands of dollars each year.

Officials say the cars usually are stolen in Columbus, driven to Cleveland for alteration and then taken to a third city for sale.

They said the interstate highway system is providing car thieves quick routes to move the stolen cars.

"In spite of computers," one detective said, "these people know they have about six hours to doctor up a car from the time it is reported until all law enforcement agencies in the state will have the stolen report."

Man To Appeal 4-Count Conviction

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — An attorney for Edwin Hogan, 28, of suburban Shaker Heights said he would appeal Wednesday's conviction of Hogan on one count of first-degree murder and three counts of armed robbery.

Common Pleas Judge Frank Celebrezze sentenced Hogan to life imprisonment after a jury found him guilty of the Jan. 9 shooting death of William Hancych, 24, of Parma, during an attempted robbery. The jury recommended mercy.

FAA Says Radar Oversold As Air Traffic Safety Device

By VERN HAUGLAND
AP Aviation Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Radar, the guide dog that takes a pilot by the hand and leads him to his destination, has been oversold as a safety device, say federal officials, who consider the overconfidence problem almost insoluble.

Like the guidedog, air traffic controllers say, radar can't protect from everything.

"It's as indispensable as X-ray is to the physician," one official said, "but it's not foolproof."

Klein Talks On Draft

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Herbert Klein, communications director for President Nixon, said the administration hopes to remove some inequities in the nation's draft laws.

"The exact program we will follow is being worked out now," Klein told 150 persons at a Sigma Delta Chi dinner here. "We will make an all out effort to get Congress to act on it."

Klein also called on the Congress to act more rapidly on the administration's tax proposal.

"Congress has been very slow to act," he said. "I believe prompt action is needed... the tax proposal has been delayed too long in the Senate."

Klein also said there is no quick and ready solution to inflation but that certain fiscal and monetary restraints such as the recent cut in federal spending for construction will help solve the problems.

Federal Aviation Administration experts outlined the radar coverage problem—brought to public attention once again by the collision of a jet airliner and a light plane near Indianapolis Sept. 9, killing all 83 aboard—to newsmen on a nonattributable basis.

"If you are a pilot flying IFR (instrument flying rules), you get the illusion that with radar you are protected from everybody. You feel that radar is looking out for you."

"We in FAA have created that illusion—not deliberately—by calling out traffic to the pilot 50 times for every time he sees another airplane."

"This problem is well nigh insoluble until we get good collision-avoidance equipment."

The airline industry, which has had an active search under way for 14 years for a suitable collision avoidance system, is testing one device, developed by McDonnell Douglas, Co., which may go into airline use as early as next year.

The system involves an airborne computer, transmitting and receiving equipment and a timekeeping device.

Signals sent out by such an equipped airplane give warnings to all other nearby aircraft of its altitude, direction and location.

The FAA currently has 90 air route surveillance radars—ARSRs—feeding information to 28 traffic control centers. They have a detection range of about 200 miles and provide radar coverage of air traffic over most of the continental United States.

In addition, the FAA has more than 120 airport surveillance radars—ASRs—providing arrival and departure service for aircraft at major terminals.

The FAA published in August 1967, and reissues to pilots periodically, a circular advising them of the inherent capabilities and limitations of radar systems.

The circular points out that radio waves, which normally travel in a continuous straight line, sometimes are:

1. Bent by abnormal atmospheric phenomena, which may cause many false blips to appear on radar, or decrease the detection range.

2. Reflected or distorted by dense objects such as heavy clouds, precipitation, ground obstacles or mountains, which may block out aircraft at the same range and greatly weaken or completely eliminate from radar planes at a greater range.

3. Screened by mountains or high terrain.

Basically, the FAA says, the big problem then is to segregate visual and instrument traffic.

FAA officials say a new rule will be proposed soon to set up mushroom-shaped or "upside-down wedding cake" control zones over major airport areas. These circular zones will be large—69 miles in diameter—topside, and will funnel down to the airport. During the busier hours of the day, and below 10,000 feet, the zones will be restricted to instrument controlled traffic except for visual traffic given special clearance.

"The airlines say it's not enough, and private pilots oppose the restrictions. There will be a furor, but the regulations will be issued within a month if they are cleared."

FAA experts say the real problem is money. If funds were available, air travel safety could be improved greatly.

"There is $600 million worth of improvement that needs to be done right now," an official said.

"Airport work needed runs to several billions—from $3.5 billion to $7 billion.

"But for the past three years, as a matter of policy, the FAA has not asked for more instrument landing systems or more towers."

"These things are needed, but the Johnson administration defined a policy, which has not yet been changed by the Nixon administration, holding that aviation has grown up and the way to finance needed new improvements is by user charges."

Until user-charge legislation now before Congress is enacted, therefore, little of the moneys needed for air traffic control will be forthcoming.

Tigers Seek First Victory Friday

Circleville Tigers seek their first football win of the season Friday when the Hamilton Twp. Rangers invade the local gridiron.

The Red and Black 11 has lost to Grove City, 21-0, and to Teays Valley, 37-14, this year. Hamilton has split in two starts.

The first game for the Rangers was with Fairfield Union, a power in the Mid State League. The Fairfield Falcons won with ease, having scoring opportunities set up by ringer fumbles near the goal line.

But last week the Rangers came back real strong against Grandview and won, 20-0.

"OUR scouts say they have relatively good size, the backs have better than average speed and the quarterback has a fairly good arm," CHS mentor Denny Williams said today.

Tickets for the Circleville Hamilton football game are on sale at Risch and Bingman Drug Stores, it was announced today by Walter Owens, CHS faculty adviser.

In addition, the Stooze Club will be selling reserved seat tickets at the high school today and tomorrow after school.

"Overall they are fairly well balanced. They use an Oklahoma defense with a monster linebacker. The linebackers have good size," he noted.

"Our kids know they have a good ball club to face this weekend. The kids' spirits seem pretty good and last night we had a real good practice," Williams stated.

The old flu bug has been the biggest thorn in the Tiger paw this week.

Greg White and Bill Francis have been out all week with the bug. Mike Fuller, Don Valentine and Mike Webb have all missed at least one day.

The injury list does not look too bad with the recovery of Doyle Kiser who will be back at his defensive cornerback spot this weekend.

WITH White expected to be out of action for the game, Coach Denny Williams does not have an experienced end to fill the job on defense. Brent Liston will start at the other end slot.

Paul Bost, a 164-pound senior, will fill the gap left by the 200-pound Bill Francis at defensive tackle. The other tackle will be Mark Davey. Ian Griffey will start at middle guard. Dick Radcliff and Billy Thomas are the linebackers, Mike Hamrick and Kiser the cornerbacks and Mike Henderson and Tom Bowers the defensive halfbacks.

On offense, Bowers will be the signal caller. Halfbacks will be Dick Walters and Henderson and Bost will run from the fullback slot.

Craig Allison will start at center. He will be flanked by Don Valentine and Gary Robbins at the guard positions. Offensive tackles are Mark Davey and Radcliff and Webb and Liston have been tabbed for starting duties at ends.

Elsewhere in the South Central Ohio League this Friday, Washington hosts Franklin Heights, Unioto travels to Hillsboro, Greenfield plays at Chillicothe, Miami Trace is on the road at Dublin and Wilmington hosts Miamisburg.

SCO teams have an 11-1 record against non league opposition this year. Hillsboro has the lone win.

Westfall '11' Hosts Piketon In SVC Tilt

Westfall hosts Piketon Friday in a Scioto Valley Conference football game.

The Mustangs defending champions of the SVC, have lost both of their starts this season, including an 18-14 loss to Unioto last week.

Unioto was three times champion of the SVC until knocked from the throne by the Mustangs in 1968.

Piketon, once a power in the conference football race, has lost both of its games this season and both teams will be looking for their initial wins.

Snead Holds Big Golfers In Reserve

By TOM REEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Sam Snead, the American Ryder Cup team captain, said today: "I'm holding my big boys in reserve"—and British fans started looking worried.

Snead left out millionaire golfer Jack Nicklaus and Dan Sikes of Jacksonville, Fla., from his team for the first of the four-somes starting today.

Snead said: "I would much rather have Jack in the four balls and the singles than playing alternate shots."

Today's matches in the 18th biennial Ryder Cup matches start with Scotch foursomes—players hitting alternate shots.

There were four such foursomes starting at 4 a.m. EDT.

The line-up for today's matches:

Neil Coles and Brian Huggett vs. Miller Barber, Sherman, Tex., and Raymond Floyd, Lake Havasu City, Ariz.; Bernard Gallacher and Maurice Bembridge vs. Lee Trevino, Dallas and Ken Stoll, Tacoma, Wash.; Tony Jackin and Peter Townsend vs. Dave Hill, Jackson, Mich., and Tommy Aaron, Christlawn Gardens, Ga., and Chris O'Connor and Peter Allis vs. Bill Casper, Bonita, Calif., and Frank Beard, Louisville.

Captains Eric Brown for Great Britain and Snead can change the pattern for partnership in the afternoon.

The Americans have won the Ryder Cup 14 times. Britain only three times.

Snead admitted that Nicklaus, winner of the U.S. Masters, the U.S. Open, the U.S. PGA and the British Open, was being held for the big push.

"He's the sort of player who can suddenly turn on the magic and make a magic rainbow."

The foursomes Friday add up to a best ball competition—in other words the player with the best score takes the hole for his team.

Logan Elm Schedules Grid Tilt Sept. 26

Logan Elm High School has filled the open date on its football schedule Sept. 26 it was announced today by Chuck Pritchard, LEHS athletic director.

Big Walnut, a team that plays in the same conference that Cardington participates in, will be the opponent in a game on the Braves' home field. It will be the first home game for Logan Elm.

Pritchard said that Big Walnut had a team cancel a game with them on Sept. 26. Originally LE had a game with New Lexington St. Aloysius on that date, but St. Al closed its doors to high school students last spring.

Bob Munro of Geraldton, Ont., led North Dakota's hockey team in scoring during the past season with 13 goals and 39 assists for 43 points.

Braves Top Dodgers In Crazy NL West

By MIKE BRYSON

Los Angeles finally came up a winner in that National League West craze—first-place roulette—but Hank Aaron's slug fouled up the whole thing for the Dodgers.

The veteran outfielder clobbered his 42nd homer of the season leading off the 12th inning Wednesday night to give Atlanta a 6-5 victory over the Dodgers.

That ended Los Angeles' eight-hour tenure as head of the torrid divisional chase, and put the Braves back into the leaders role they had lost only the night before.

Actually, the Braves were the third team to lead the hot race at one time or another Wednesday.

San Francisco started off the day in the No. 1 spot, but dropped to second behind the Dodgers after losing a 2-1 afternoon decision to Houston.

Then Atlanta's victory shoved the Dodgers from first to third, a half-game back of San Francisco and one game back of the Braves.

Cincinnati, meanwhile, is just a half-game behind the Dodgers after clubbing San Diego 10-5. All four of the leaders are even in the loss column, with 67 each.

Over in the NL East race, the New York Mets held on to their four-game lead by blanking Montreal 5-0, while second-place Chicago stopped Philadelphia 9-7.

Pittsburgh nipped St. Louis 4-2 in the other NL game.

The Dodgers, who had been only percentage points back of the West leader since the first of the month but never in first until Wednesday, used a two-run triple by Jim Lefebvre in the bottom of the eighth to tie it 5-5. Lefebvre was thrown out at the plate when he tried to score on an overthrow from the outfield for what would have been the winning run.

The Braves had grabbed a 5-3 lead in the top of the inning on a two-out RBI double by Gil Garrido and pitcher George Stone's run-scoring single.

Larry Dierker became the first 20-game winner in the history of the Houston Astros and Jim Wynn and Doug Rader backed him with solo homers in beating San Francisco.

Rader's homer, his 11th of the season, snapped a 1-1 tie in the eighth. Wynn hit his 32nd in the fourth.

Dierker, who has lost 10, escaped a bases-loaded jam in the first inning, then tamed the Giants until successive one-out singles by Willie Mays, Willie McCovey and Bobby Bonds produced the only run off him. Dierker was lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth and ex-New York Yankee Jim Bouton finished up.

Tony Perez knocked in three runs with three hits and Alex Johnson, Tommy Helms, Pete Rose and Woody Woodward each collected three hits in a 20-hit attack that spilled San Diego.

Jerry Koosman scattered six hits as the red hot Mets won their 12th in 13 games—and 29th in 35 starts—in reducing their magic number for winning the East title to 10.

Ron Swoboda's single and Wayne Garrett's two-run single netted the Mets three runs in the fourth, and they scored again in the seventh on three walks and a squeeze bunt by Jerry Grote and in the ninth on Al Weis' RBI single.

Ferguson Jenkins lashed a bases-loaded triple in a five-run sixth inning, helping himself to his 20th victory, as the Cubs staggered to only their third triumph in their last 14 games.

Jenkins, who fanned six to break by one his own Cub season record of 260, became the first Chicago hurler in 50 years to post three successive 20-game winning seasons.

However, the Phils chased him in the eighth, when they erupted for four runs.

Ron Santo's two-run homer and Billy Williams' solo blast paced the Cubs' 14-hit attack.

Rookie Al Oliver's 17th homer—a two-run smash in the eighth—gave Pittsburgh its victory over the Cards.

Athletics Trim Kansas City, 3-2

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Oakland's Jim Hunter, who pitched like a Catfish out of water for eight weeks while Minnesota left the Athletics high and dry in the American League West, finally is back in the swim.

Hunter snapped a personal eight-game losing streak Wednesday night as the Athletics shaded Kansas City 3-2 in 10 innings and trimmed one game from Minnesota's commanding lead in the division title race.

The victory, coupled with the Twins' 6-4 loss to California, left the A's nine games off the pace with 14 to play. The Twins' magic number remained at six.

Hunter, with relief support from Paul Lindblad and batting help from rookie Bob Brooks, brought his season record to 10-15 by winning for the first time since July 24.

But "Catfish" did it the hard way, letting the Royals off the hook with a two-out wild pitch in the ninth that sent the tying run home, then leaving for a pinch hitter as the A's broke the deadlock in the 10th.

In other AL action, the Chicago White Sox swept a two-night doubleheader from Seattle 6-4 and 2-1; Detroit whipped Cleveland 5-0 behind rookie left-hander Mike Kilkenny and the New York Yankees nipped Washington 2-1 in a game called after five innings because of rain. The Baltimore-Boston game was rained out.

Oakland led 2-1 in the ninth when Mike Fiore doubled, moved up to third on a fly ball and, with two out, scored the equalizer on Hunter's wild pitch.

But Bob Johnson, pinch hitting for Hunter, started the 10th with a single, Bert Campaneris also singled and after Rick Monday bunted into a force out at third Brooks broke the tie with a single.

It was the third hit for the 5-foot-8½ outfielder, recently called up from the minors, who had slammed his second major league homer in the third inning. Lindblad checked the Royals in the bottom of the 10th, preserving the victory for Hunter and clinching at least a second place finish for the A's.

Little Brown Jug Favorite Laverne Hanover Set To Go

By HAL PARIS

Associated Press Sports Writer

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP)—Laverne Hanover was the horse to beat today in the 24th running of the Little Brown Jug, pacing classic for 3-year-olds.

An estimated 40,000 fans were expected to cram into the Delaware County Fairgrounds under cloudy skies and cool temperatures.

Heavy rain wiped out Wednesday's Grand Circuit schedule, including the running of the $22,477 Old Oaken Bucket, for 3-year-old trotters. That headliner, and seven other races, were combined with today's program, making for a 21-race card.

Fifteen top colts were set to challenge Laverne Hanover for a share of the record purse of $109,731. The winner can also count on a record share, at least $43,891.

Laverne, the Tar Heel son owned by Thomas W. Murphy of New York City, is the season's sophomore champion on a mile track with 15 victories in 19 starts. Trained and driven by Billy Haughton, Laverne remains the 2-1 favorite, along with stablemate entry Nardin's Grand Slam.

Haughton, bidding for an unprecedented fourth Jug triumph, worked his big brown colt earlier in the week and pronounced him in excellent condition.

Laverne Hanover has the No. 5 spot in the second division and his most heralded rival, Kat Byrd, has the No. 3 post position.

Kat Byrd, owned by Ted Zor-now, Pittsford, N. Y., and driven by Levi Harner, has the best time on a half-mile track with a 1:58.45 trip. The fairgrounds here has a half-mile oval which could help Kat Byrd.

Bye Bye Sam, winner of the Messenge Stake, first leg in the triple crown, is the 4-1 choice in the first division when half the field of 16 gets the Jug competition started at 3:46 p.m. (EDT).

Vikings Put More Punch In Offense

By PAT THOMPSON

Associated Press Sports Writer
MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Minnesota Viking strategists spent the off-season plotting how to put more punch in their offense for the 1969 National Football League season.

The Vikings won the Central Division in 1968 with a so-so 8-6 record before losing to Baltimore 24-14 for the Western Conference title and 17-13 to Dallas in the Playoff Bowl.

Coach Bud Grant and his aides concerned themselves with ways to compliment one of the NFL's best running games, led by Bill Brown, and a most stubborn defense built around the front four of ends Carl Eller and Jim Marshall and tackles Alan Page and Gary Larsen.

With that emphasis on the ground, Viking thoughts turned to the air.

"We need a more explosive striking threat in our passing," said Grant. "We need more offensive punch."

The Vikings quickly and successfully put their new plans to work in early exhibition games. They outscored their first three opponents—Miami, Denver and St. Louis—112-29. In those games, the Vikings turned in their expected top notch defensive job—yielding only two touchdowns to the opposing offense.

But Grant was especially pleased about the offense. Gary Cuozzo, second-teamer before Joe Kapp sprained his right knee against Denver, led the newly found passing onslaught. End Gene Washington led the receivers.

Cuozzo, out most of last year with injuries, threw for 435 yards in the first three games while Washington caught 14 passes, many spectacularly, for 256 yards. Flanker Bob Grim also showed top form after missing most of 1968 with a knee injury.

Dave Osborn and Clint Jones join Brown as the team's top runners, and have become pass receiving threats as well.

Fred Cox, the team's leading scorer in 1968 with 88 points, again is accurately sailing field goals from as far away as 45 yards.

The main problem area appears to be in the offensive line. "You can't win big without quality in depth," Grant says.

Guard Larry Bowie and tight end Billy Martin retired. Guard Ron Yary and tight end John Beasley missed training camp because of military reserve duty.

The Vikings moved to get needed depth last week with two trades for rookie guard Jon Sandstrom, from Atlanta, and veteran tight end Chuck Logan, from the Cardinals. But Sandstrom lasted about a week and then was released.

Guard Jim Vellone, tackle Doug Davis and All-Pro center Mick Tingelhoff are the offensive line standouts.

Besides striving for a more powerful passing attack, the Vikings stressed improvements in the linebacking. Before Lonnie Warwick intercepted a pass against Denver, the Vikings linebackers had gone 25 games without picking off a pass.

Warwick, Wally Hilgenberg and Roy Winston reported to camp more trim and faster.

Paul Krause and Earsell Mackbee continue to improve play of the secondary.

The early season success caused some worry among Viking followers. Minnesota was 5-0 in preseason play in 1964 and finished 8-5-1. The records were 5-0 and 7-7 in 1965.

"I wish the season started tomorrow," one Viking player has said.

Minnesota Vikings At A Glance
1968 finish—Central Division champions of NFL, losing 24-14 to Baltimore in Western Conference playoff.

1968 record—8-6.

Probable 1969 finish—Another close fight with Chicago, Green Bay and Detroit for Central title.

Team's strong points—Bruising defense led by front four of ends Carl Eller, Jim Marshall and tackles Alan Page, Gary Larsen; running game spearheaded by Bill Brown, Dave Osborn and Clint Jones.

Team's weaknesses—Offensive line lacks adequate depth.

Best rookie—Guard-defensive tackle Ed White, University of California, Berkeley, only rookie likely to make the team.

O.J. Simpson Seen Threat By Houston Oilers Coach

By SHEILA MORAN

Coach Wally Lemm of the Houston Oilers thinks O. J. Simpson is "possibly a greater threat as a receiver than as a runner."

"He's one hell of a threat," Lemm said Tuesday after viewing a film of Simpson's performance with the Buffalo Bills against the New York Jets last Sunday, his first regular season pro game.

Lemm said the fabled running back from Southern Cal should make the Oilers' clash with Buffalo a tough game, even though he believes he has the best potential Oiler team since he returned as head coach in 1966.

"Simpson wasn't with the Bills when we beat them 24-7 in August so we know they are improved," Lemm said.

Simpson was limited to 35 yards in 10 carries, including an eight-yard run for his first pro touchdown. But he showed his breakaway ability on two pass receptions for a 64-yard gain and on three kickoff returns for another 68 yards.

Simpson's heroics were not enough, however, as the Bills lost to the world champion Jets 33-19.

Houston dropped the opener against Oakland 21-17 but Lemm said "Oakland had two weeks to prepare for us and came out with some defense patterns we hadn't seen before. We didn't solve our adjustments entirely until we got to the blackboard at halftime."

Lemm said his only line-up change at Buffalo will find eight-year veteran Sonny Bishoo at right guard in place of Jim Lemoine, a three-year man, "because we'll need Sonny's greater experience and ability to adjust to situations."

In other developments, National Football League clubs revealed final, no - recall cuts made to reach Monday's 40-man limit.

Minnesota said it had claimed aging quarterback Zeke Bratkowski on waivers from Green Bay where he's serving as an assistant coach. But it's been reported Bratkowski will retire rather than play for the Vikings, and remain on the Green Bay staff.

A Minnesota spokesman said Vikings' General Manager Jim Finks probably will talk to Bratkowski today.

In a surprise move, San Francisco dropped center Bruce Bosley, a 14-year NFL veteran, and went one under the 40-man limit.

Washington sprung a mild surprise by cutting veteran running back A. D. Whitfield, who gained 72 yards on 17 carries in preseason games. Coach Vince Lombardi also dropped receiver Sonny Randle.

The Children's Corner

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library has a section devoted to books for children. Volumes recently added to the Children's Library are reviewed here.

"The Little King, The Little Queen, The Little Monster" by Ruth Kruss. This is, of course, for very little people. There are really three stories in the book, each exactly like the others except for the main character. Miss Kruss has doodled her illustrations. The little monster, especially, has great charm. Picture book.

"What Is Your Favorite Thing To See?" by Myra T. Gibson. What is your favorite thing? A rainbow? Your cat? A campfire? More than fifteen two-page color pictures suggest possible favorites. Picture book.

"Wingfin and Toppie" by Evans G. Valens Jr. Pictures by Clement Hurd. The story of Toppie is a kind of fishy ugly duckling tale. Toppie's fins are so long that he stumbles over them and all the herring scoff. When he meets other fish with fins like his, he learns that he is a flying fish and finds he can fly. He gains freedom of movement of two elements. Clement Hurd has done lovely illustrations. The text is barely noticeable. Grades 1-3.

"Beaver of Weeping Water" by Marian Rumsey. Marian Rumsey has spent many years traveling, by sailboat and by camper-truck. It was while on a camping trip through the Northwest that she found her ideas for "Beaver of Weeping Water." Her love of nature and her deep appreciation for the beautiful Cascade Mountains are apparent in this tale. Joey is fascinated when a beaver begins a dam in the small lake on his family farm. However, it soon becomes evident that the little beaver is obstructing the flow of irrigation water to the valley below. Learning that the dam is to be dynamited, Joey tries desperately to free his industrious wild protégé. He has an adventure with a bobcat and becomes trapped in the cleverly constructed dam before he saves the beaver. Grades 4-6.

"Annie, Annie" by Molly Cone. Annie thought her casual homelife and her parents' liberal ideas were slipshod and undisciplined. She took a job as a live-in helper with an elderly couple. Their yard, their house, their habits were orderly. There were rules for everything, and Annie didn't have to think for herself, not once. "Hang your coat on the hanger. Use the wooden hanger. Wipe your feet." Annie felt secure in this well ordered routine. Her employers were religious, too. Yet when Annie's friend, Awful, came to see her, they were greatly displeased — he looked like a bad character. Annie remembered her parents' good-natured tolerance and their kind acceptance of people who weren't exactly like themselves. Grades 4-6.

Wounded Officer Plans Return To Police Work

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dan Patterson firmly intends to return to work as a Cincinnati policeman despite a shooting June 13 which nearly took his life.

Patterson, 27, disclosed at a news conference at General Hospital Wednesday that "I'm going back to my same beat after another six months or so. I like police work and I'm looking forward to going back."

After three months treatment for three bullet wounds, Patterson was released from General Saturday. He has lost 60 pounds. His condition was extremely critical for the first few weeks while he was under intensive care and he was listed as serious much of the remaining time.

He was shot after responding to a call at an office of Diebold Inc. where Lonnie Gibson, 26, Cincinnati, was allegedly threatening his wife. Patterson then shot Gibson to death.

OEO Officials

Make Study Here

John Guerre, field representative of the Chicago, Ill., headquarters of the office of Economic Opportunity, is conducting a field preview of the Pickaway County Community Action Committee funding for 1970.

D. G. Russell, a representative of the state OEO office, is assisting.

Guerre and Russell have been meeting with various public officials and the board of trustees of PICCA this week.

"Harriet Tubman, Guide to Freedom" by Sam and Beryl Epstein. Harriet Tubman always had a lot of spirit. The "sleeping" spells to which she was always subject were caused by a blow from a heavy weight. It was thrown by an angry overseer as he tried to capture a runaway slave whom she was helping. During her underground railway years, she led more than two hundred Negroes north to freedom. She was an effective abolitionist speaker in her neat old-fashioned dresses. During the Civil War she worked as a nurse and also as a scout for the Northern army. For many years this remarkable woman made her home a haven for destitute Negroes. There are two photographs of Harriet Tubman in this book, plus numerous drawings. Grades 4-6.

Mrs. Johnson Speaks To Sertoma Club

MRS. SYLVIA JOHNSON

Featured speaker at the Wednesday noon meeting of the Sertoma Club was Mrs. Sylvia Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson is executive secretary of the Pickaway County Children Services Board. She is a social worker and obtained her masters degree from Ohio State University. Her field training was completed at the Columbus State Hospital and the Veterans Administration Hospital in Chillicothe.

First serving as a member of the Child Welfare Board, she then became a caseworker and eventually returned as executive secretary last June.

Mrs. Johnson discussed the current role of the family in today's society as opposed to what it used to be. An area has developed as a result of this change which the agency is attempting to help. The agency counseled 250 people last month and is providing a Group Home environment for 10 to 14 teenage girls. The group also handles family counseling as well as children services.

on EVANGELISM

at Minneapolis, Minn.
Sept. 8 - 13

"For by one spirit we were all baptized into one body — Jews or Greeks, slaves or free, and all were made to drink of one spirit" . . . "And let us consider how to stir up one another to love and good works, not neglecting to meet together, as is the habit of some, but encouraging one another." "The Spirit blows where He pleases . . . where there is unity . . . where there is humility . . . where there is desire . . . where there is repentance" — Excerpt from a speech by Dr. Ford Philpot.

The Kinsfolk, a teenage vocal group from Australia, was present to discuss the possibilities in modern music, especially in the coffee house ministry.

Dr. Sherwood Wirt, Editor of Decision magazine and the author of the books "Not Me, God," "Social Conscience of Evangelicals," and "Passport to Life City" was present after the morning session to autograph his books.

Rain, Fog Cover East; Pacific Cool

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain, drizzle and fog dampened wide areas of the East today while cool air bearing down on the Pacific Northwest scattered showers over much of that region as well.

Nearly 2 inches of rain soaked portions of the Northwest in showers that occasionally fell in strong, gusty winds.

Generally, rainfall in the East was light during the night. The dismal weather there also was associated with an advancing mass of cooler weather.

Light showers and thunderstorms dampened scattered areas from eastern New Mexico to South Dakota before daybreak. A thunderstorm peppered the Texas Panhandle town of Dalhart with hail, high winds and an inch of rain late Wednesday.

Clear skies were confined to the Southwest, the central Midwest and parts of the South.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 36 at Watertown, N.Y., to 83 at Yuma, Ariz.

Reds Hit Units Set For Viet Pullout

SAIGON (AP) — Two U.S. Marine regiments to be withdrawn from Vietnam before Christmas today reported 23 of their men killed and 58 wounded in close-range fighting along the demilitarized zone.

Marines from the 3rd and 4th regiments of the 3rd Division were attacked twice Wednesday by North Vietnamese troops near the craggy peak called the Rockpile, four miles south of the DMZ.

Some of the fighting was hand-to-hand after the North Vietnamese troops smashed into the night camp of a company of about 150 Marines from the 3rd Regiment.

"During the fighting, an unknown number of soldiers penetrated the perimeter but were killed or repulsed," a communiqué from U.S. headquarters reported.

The battle began shortly after midnight Tuesday when North Vietnamese troops attacked from the north and east. An hour later mortars slammed in from the east and another assault wave poured in from that direction. American artillery and fighter-bombers helped drive the enemy back after two hours of fighting.

An hour later, fresh North Vietnamese troops attacked from the northwest, touching off an hour-long fight. After the enemy withdrew, the Marines continued to receive sporadic mortar fire until daylight, when reinforcements reached them.

As dawn broke, the Marines counted 16 of their men killed, and 34 wounded. A search of the battlefield turned up the bodies of 23 North Vietnamese.

Shortly after noon Wednesday, 150 Marines of the 4th Regiment were hit two miles to the north by North Vietnamese in fortified positions. In 25 minutes, seven Marines died and 24 were wounded.

North Vietnamese losses were not known.

Another barrage of rocket grenades and mortar shells smashed into the Marines as they were attempting to evacuate their casualties.

A few hours after the fighting, the men got the news that their regiments are being pulled out of Vietnam by Dec. 15 in the second installment of President Nixon's withdrawal program.

Another 12 Americans were killed Wednesday in the collision of two U.S. helicopters in the air 18 miles southwest of Saigon. There were no survivors.

Ten of the Americans were aboard a transport helicopter which collided with a two-man Cobra gunship supporting U.S. 9th Division infantrymen who had run into a Viet Cong force. In the six-hour ground fight, one American infantryman and 18 Viet Cong were killed, and one American was wounded, the U.S. Command said.

Springfield Man Saved At Park; Hung In Tree

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — A 72-year-old Springfield man was reported in "not too bad condition" today after hanging for 16 hours from a cliff-side tree in a park here.

Joseph McCoy was strolling Tuesday night when he slipped and fell. His foot caught in a tree about 20 feet below the cliff—but 60 feet above the bottom.

McCoy was unable to free himself and his cries for help were not heard.

Wednesday, Duane Ogg of Dayton was driving through the park and noticed something move in the trees above. He called police.

Columbus Safety Director Quits

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Safety Director Fred Simon, saying "This is one of the toughest things I ever did," resigned Wednesday.

The 40-year-old Simon, who held the position for the past six years under the administration of Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner, said he wanted to return to law practice and the development of a real estate business.

The resignation is effective Dec. 31.

Simon, along with the mayor, have been objects of an investigation by the Internal Revenue Service. But close associates to the safety director said this had nothing to do with the resignation.
